

Untitled

From an Auckland South African War Veterans' Association condolence card supplied by Wally Swainson of Tuakau

The glamour gone, some scattered graves and memories dim remain
With his old pals across the field, he'll never trek again
But yet there's nothing he regrets as he awaits his call
For what was done or lost or won, he did his bit-that's all

Sergeant 4486*

*According to our database, this regimental number belonged to Sergeant David Wilson of the Seventh Contingent.
